

Could This Man Be The Next President Of the Tomcats ?

St. Clair Beach Ontario -AP- In a sleepy hallow called St. Clair Beach, a President of the Tomcats emerged, his name is Steven Jaworiwsky. Is it possible this small hamlet of $5,000 people can now produce a second President? "Hold on there Tiger"! States Louis Koneigsberger, "Who says, that I don't want to be the President?" Koneigsberger asks.

It is known that Michael Jaworiwsky, the present day Vice President is not interested in being the President and says that it is wise open as to who can and who will be the next president. The younger, handsomer Jaworiwsky also is once again saying, "Hey don't think for a minute my brother is giving the Presidency up. He loves the corner office, his own washroom and the 4 executive assistants, Binky, Minky, Linky and Stinky". He laughs as he says this, and then gives his Michael Jaworiwsky look, meaning, 'I'm fucking serious'!

Andy 'Doc' Brewin was not taking calls, but a party close to Doc who did not want to give his name and stay anonymous, and only wanted to be known as 'Chico'. indicated that Doc is very excited about possibly taking over the operation. "He has some interesting ideas", said a smirking Cheeks, then added "I don't want to let all the ideas out of the hockey bag but one idea he has is to have everyone pay $500 at the start of the season and then we all go to Vegas in May". Cheeks stated. So hang on to your hockey hats, Doc has been assigned as the co-coordinator of this year's up-coming Tomcat Tournament. "I have faith in him", indicated Victor Ferranti, "I think he would make a great President". concluded Ferranti.

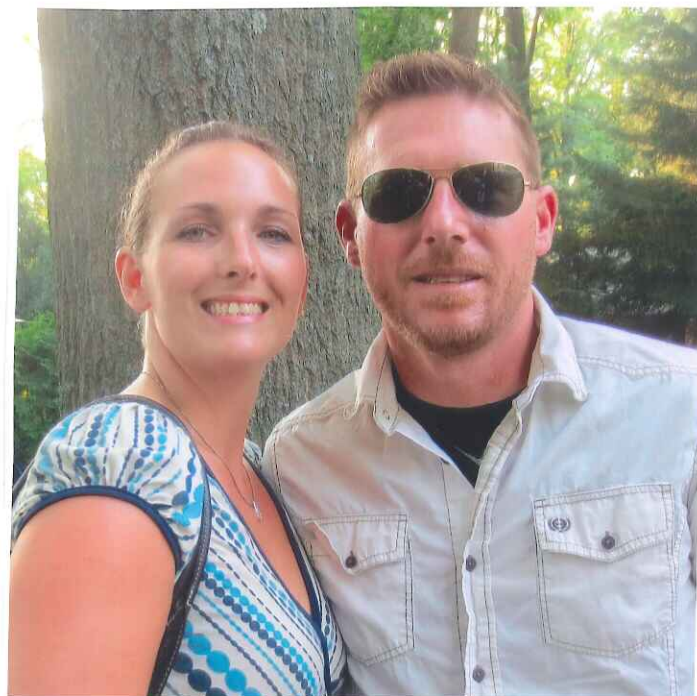

While others are not so sure, "Just because he can land a plane here and there does not make him a candidate to be the President of a highly regarded sports franchise as the Windsor Tomcats", stated John Salaris, "my thinking, is if Stevo is still around for two years then he should remain president for the two years, why not? We should all be pushing for that. What does he want? To get laid each Tuesday night after hockey, in George's change room?.... well OK, let's do it! Let's make that happen, so he stays!" stated an enthusiastic Salaris.

All we know for now, is that come September 17, 2013 Steven Jaworiwsky will still be the President and that is a good way for this upcoming season. to start!

Shane Renaud Third Stringer Right now, playing time to be scaled back

Louis Koenigsberger there is no one like Louis out on the Kapusta Kow floor

Paul Renaud 15th season as a Windsor Tomcat, Father of the score clock.

Darek Kowalczykowski not planning at lipping officials, looking at big season for Zaba

Paul Poisson Status unclear, will he play more?? Good player hate to see him waste away

Chad Comartin Strong-tough defender, you build a team around a player like this.

Ken Cribley Like a bottle of fine wine, gets better as each day/game goes by

George Metulynsky In his 25th Windsor Tomcat season, veteran shows his stuff

Michael Jaworiwsky Number one Tomcat in blocked shots

Stephan Szcwczuk Big shot but even a bigger pusher, they call him Shovie Szcwczuk

Stefan Jaworiwsky Not sure what he can do this year, one year older, wait and see.

Dave Dzibela Wicked Shot, wicked in bed, this Windsor Tomcat has it all

Anthony Meloche No aging on this Tomcat, he must own a juicer or something

Kevin Kuprowski Becoming a fan favorite, good looking, great smile, can shoot

Aaron White Will start the season as a full timer. May play some goal as well

Mike Edgar Fans should see more of Lovie this year.

John Salaris He dazzles, he razzles, he can pass, he can shoot, he has it all

Sammy Salaris He can shake, rattle and roll. Spin, pass and shoot, he can do it all

Dave Crawford Relegated as a part time player. Will come out when/if he can.

Andy Brewin Big defender but is used in front of the other teams net too

Dean Colasanti Like a tornado he spins, flares, shoots and can score from anywhere

Victor Ferranti A fan favorite...good hockey player and a favorite with the ladies

Nick Lelyk Wiley veteran is back, but on a part time basis. Once a month.

Dan Mesman Will play as much as he can, when he can,

Vince Vlaminck This silky smooth defender will be a part time player this year

Dean Colasanti Will come out when he can.

Ellery Oickle Comes with a lot of razzle dazzle, lots and lots of hockey talent

Matty Youssef Coming off stellar season, only great things will follow him

Joe Costa Part time player, will play in, will play out, where ever they need him.

The Low Down: So if you are playing, great, Tomcats will keep you on the list. If you are not planning on playing, or your status has changed from full time to part time, please let Steven Jaworiwsky know.

Nick Names Are Important

Kapusta Kow Palace -AP- If you started with the Tomcats and no one gave you a nickname, how would you feel. There is Soupy and the Turk, Hollywood and of course Snowpants. The there is you, Eric or Bill or Gord.

“At least call me Gordo”, you might think. “I think we need the next guy coming in to be called ‘Mookie’, “ Says and excited Hollywood Jaworiwsky and adds, “We have never had a Mookie”. Mookie Comartin, Mookie Salaris how bout Mookie Ferranti. “I like it”, says Lovie and adds, “I love my name Lovie and when the guys call me that, hey that's just me and I know I'm a Tomcat when I hear that name”. Mike Edgar says.

Names that could be considered in the future:

Mookie, Slash, Meat Dick, Flaming Spaz, Crimson Fart, Bonky, Bo, Boo, Star Berst.

“Hey Meat Dick, welcome to the Tomcats”.

Joe Costa Rocks

So here the Tomcats have a diamond in the rough. Joe 'Ogie' Costa, who is still only a part time Tomcat. Possibly only to get called up when he is needed, donates a case of beer for the Out Door Game. That case was held back, as Sparky and Stevo were brining Tomcat beer. Now really you can never have too much beer, but in this case it would have been. So the case was used at the Tomcat golf outing. "I like that kid, Stevo should give him full time status and move him up over the older guys who never bring anything, just their beer that they are suppose" stated an energetic Paul Renaud. "That is the Tomcat Spirit that we need", Renaud concluded. With this donated case of beer, President Jaworiwsky indicated, "I can see him getting a few extra games in there for sure".

Joe 'Ogie' Costa, Solid as a Rock for doing a Solid Deed and donating a case of beer to the Tomcats.

"What a player, what a Star".

P. 'Sparky' Renaud

Kapusta Kow Palace –AP- When Vinnie 'La Bamba' Vlaminck, Johnny 'Sunny' Salaris and Mike 'Lovie' Edgar vouch for you, you are pretty much a shoe in. That is what happened when the Windsor Tomcats signed virtual unknown Ellery 'Beep' Oickle. Sure he toiled in the minors and in Europe and racked up some pretty good numbers, but could he play at the Tomcat level at the Kapusta Kow Palace. He came with no Nickname. He came wearing a maroon (and yellow) coloured plastic see through hockey jersey on the first night. "That all changed when I become a Tomcat". States a beaming Oickle, "I can't believe how it all changed my life. Now I'm walking like I'm six feet tall, I'm wearing suits instead of leisure suits, huge transformation for me" concluded Oickle.

"I knew he could play and spoke to the Tomcat Brass about signing him". States a proud Sunny Salaris and continues,

Ellery Oickle's First Year

"It has been a tremendous year for me. I did not know what to quite expect when I arrived for my very first time at the Kapusta Kow Palace and tried wearing my maroon coloured hockey jersey. I wanted to show them I was a player, before the play even started".

E. 'Beep' Oickle

"Then I think, they went to La Bamba and to Lovie and asked about Beep and there were glowing reviews, so they signed him, I don't think they (Tomcats) have regretted that at all". The very proud Sunny concludes. The Windsor Tomcats have not regretted it and are in the process of trying to sign Oickle to an extension. Not quite the Dave Crawford numbers, 8 years at 9 million a season but Oickle could be looking at an 8 year deal around 7.8 million a year.

And what about the nickname? "He loves it", says a jovial Lovie Edgar, "He came home that night and said to his wife, 'they call me Beep'" Lovie Edgar concludes with a chuckle.
